Selectmen notes

Board discusses licenses, Rte. 38

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - The frustration surrounding the upcoming MBTA parking facility may have attracted the bulk of the Board of Selectmen's attention at its June 26 meeting, but other matters were approached, as well.

Here are some "short-takes" of some of the approvals and announcements and requests and invitations that were made at last week's meeting at the Town Hall:

• GOOD TIMES AHEAD. Robert DePesa, who manages the new Focaccia's restaurant on Lowell Street, and his brother, Peter, have been granted two licenses for their business.

First, the Board of Selectmen approved for them a license to serve alcoholic beverages. Currently, the DePesa brothers have sixty seats in their eatery. Since they have been approved for a liquor license, they soon will need to comply with the law and increase that capacity to 100 seats. A new design for such a capacity was presented to the board.

Secondly, the board approved for the DePesa brothers an entertainment license that will allow them to put a big-screen television and an amplified sound system in their restaurant. Dancing, however, would be prohibited.

"We also hope to invite live bands and hire a violin guy to go from table to table and play his violin for the customers," said Peter DePesa, the Vice President of Focaccia, Inc.

That was fine by the board, especially by Selectmen Jim Rooney.

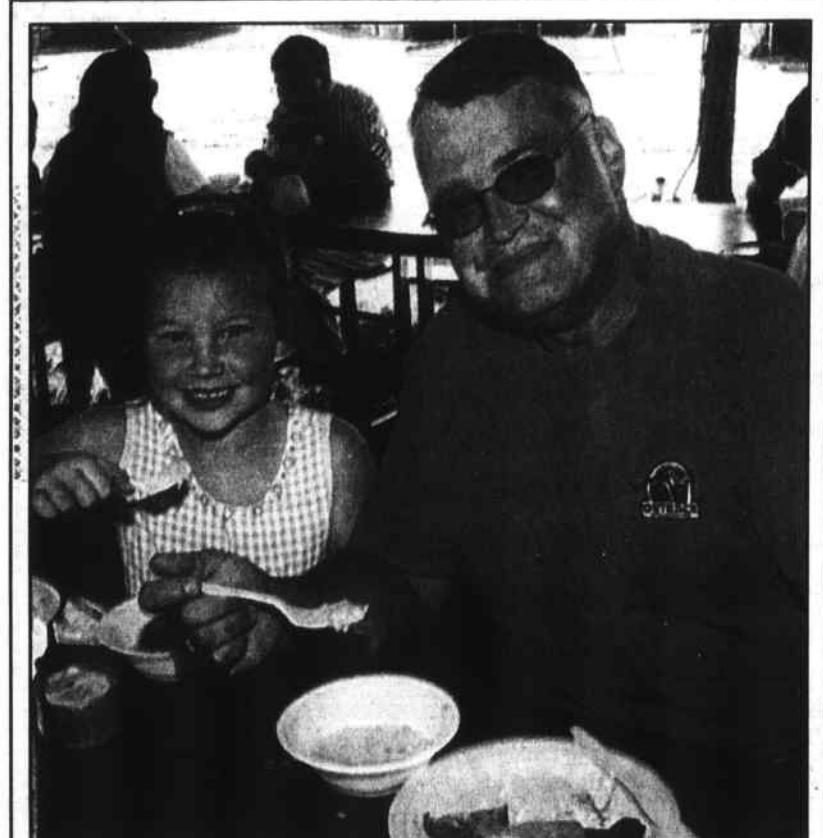

"Just make sure that every tenth song played by the violin guy is an Irish song," joked Rooney.

• MORE ROUTE 38 HEADACHES. Selectmen discussed the two-year-old Route 38 improvement project with Senator Bruce Tarr and Representative James Miceli, who both attended the meeting.

Improvements were supposed to begin to take place on Route 38 in 1998, but the project was postponed in order to repair the nearby sewer line.

According to Department of Public Works Superintendent Donald Onusseit, nobody at the Massachusetts Highway Department seems concerned with the endeavor, which would improve a stretch of the highway adjacent to the controversial

February cat killing

Scalise sentenced

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - Michael Scalise, who pled guilty to trapping and killing his neighbor's cat last February, has been dealt a strong penalty by Woburn District Court Judge Phyllis Broker.

On Wednesday, June 28, Scalise and his defense attorney, Robert Lewin, appeared before Judge Broker to receive what would be her ruling against him.

The result? Scalise was sentenced to spend six months in the House of Correction in Billerica. He must serve a minimum of thirty days there. If, by chance, he violates a two-year probation to follow, then he will have to return to the House of Correction and complete the six months.

Once Scalise is released from the House of Correction, he must wear an electronic ankle bracelet for one month. The bracelet will allow authorities to track Scalise's whereabouts and ensure that he only leaves his 4702 Pouliot Place home to report to and from work.

Judge Broker handed Scalise some hefty fines, as well. He must pay a fine of $1,000 and a surfine of $250. Scalise must also fork over a $60 Victim's Rights Assessment fine to a shelter for battered women.

Once Judge Broker finished delivering her ruling, Scalise was escorted by authorities to the House of Correction in Billerica to begin his sentence.

Judge Broker's ruling was one that Scalise and Attorney Lewin could have rejected if they wished. Upon hearing Judge Broker's decision, Scalise had the legal opportunity to withdraw his guilty plea and have his case go before a jury. He declined.

In April, Scalise reversed his School Department receives funds for texts

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - Bucks for books.

That's the one thing that Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell hoped that the Finance Committee could provide to the Wilmington School Department.

In a June 1 letter to Finance Committee Chairman George Hooper, Superintendent O'Donnell explained that the School Department needed funds to purchase textbooks needed for the 2000-2001 academic school year. Recently, those funds were granted by the committee.

Last December, unanticipated Special Education costs forced the School Department to project a deficit in its Special Education budget. To help offset such a projection, the School Department felt it had no choice but to transfer money from its 1999-2000 operating budget to its one for Special Education. As of May 31, the School Department has been able to reduce the Special Education deficit to $227,726.

Here's the drawback: $60,000 of the money that was diverted from the operating budget had been set aside for an assortment of textbooks at the Elementary, Middle School and High School levels.

Now that $60,000 is needed. The high school needs $4,675 for textbooks for its Health and Computer classes; the Middle School needs $46,930 for its American History and Science classes; and the Elementary Schools needs $8,863 for its curriculum kits.

In a June 16 letter to the Finance Committee, Town Manager Michael Caira included the textbooks-expense of $60,000 among the other figures that he requested be transferred from the town's Reserve Fund.

Reserve account

Year-end funding transfers granted

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - Fiscal Year 2000 has come to a close, and the Finance Committee has met the request of Town Manager Michael Caira to transfer some money from the community's Reserve Account to various departments throughout town.

At the Special Town Meeting on November 15, 1999, an additional amount of $165,554 was added to the $140,000 that was appropriated for the Reserve Fund when the 2000 Fiscal Budget was initially drawn. Both figures brought the balance of the Reserve Account to 305,554.

Recently, the Finance Committee approved Caira's year-end transfer requests to the tune of $175,115.

Here's how the sum will be dispersed.

• SCHOOL DEPARTMENT. Funds were needed for the purchase of textbooks and instructional materials to be used through the school system. Under capital outlay, money was also needed to purchase a minivan to add to the school department's current fleet of transportation vehicles. Finally, funds were needed for the replacement of two boilers and heating renovations at the Wildwood School. AMOUNT: $69,660.

• DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS. The sewer division of the DPW needed funds to complete its Route 38 Sewer Project. AMOUNT: $50,000.

• PUBLIC BUILDINGS. Money was needed to replace some windows at the Intermediate schools; to remove oil tanks at the DPW building; and to remove an abandoned trailer currently situated on town property. AMOUNT: $18,000.

• VETERAN'S RETIREMENT. Funds were needed to meet the town's obligation to pay the veterans' retirement benefits of the widow of a former town employee. AMOUNT: $1,455.

• POLICE DEPARTMENT. A shortfall occurred in the police

Troop 136 at Camporee Local scouts excel

Roman Walsh; Tim Robillard; Adam Cambell; Jim Devine; Jon Tremblay; Peter Karapatsas

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - On the weekend of June 16, members of Wilmington Boy Scout Troop 136 participated in the 2000 American Legion Camporee at Camp Collier in Gardner, Massachusetts.

Only six of these scouts attended the camporee, and when they left their homes the only things they had with them were the bare essentials for a weekend in the wilderness. When they returned home, however, they brought with them a cache of awards won in a number of competitions.

Once the scouts and their three adult leaders arrived at the Camporee, the troop formed two groups, the Flying Squirrel Patrol and the Horsemen Patrol. It was these two groups that competed against other troops in a number of events meant to showcase the best of the best in a number of scout-related categories.

Check this out. Between them, the Flying Squirrel Patrol and the Horsemen Patrol nabbed 7 first-place awards, six second-place awards, four third-place awards, two fourth-place awards and two fifth-place awards. Troop 136 as a whole also collected the prestigious Commander's Trophy for Best Overall Troop.

"It was a very impressive win," says Scout Leader Dan Devine, who joined his troop for the weekend fun.

Did we mention that these six scouts were competing statewide against fourteen other troops comprised of approximately 300 other scouts?

"It's unheard of," says Devine. "There were just six of them. Just two years ago this troop didn't get any awards. They knew that the odds were stacked against them, so this time around they just went out there and had a good time. They impress me."

Sure, it was great to win awards for such tasks as starting fires, setting up tents, using a compass, simulating rescue missions and performing first aid. The main intent of the weekend, however, was to have a good time.

When the scouts arrived at the camporee on Friday night, they worked together to set up their camp site.

Aside from the aforementioned competitions, Saturday was filled with preparing and eating breakfast and lunch, playing Giant Frisbee and Tug-O-War, and taking a refreshing swim in the lake. Once the competitions were finished, the scouts enjoyed religious services, dinner, and a night of skits and songs and cheers.

"Saturday is the heart of the weekend," says Chuck Tremblay, a Scout Leader who also attended the festivities with Devine and the scouts.

Sunday completed the weekend getaway with a hearty breakfast and an awards ceremony, which, as you know, turned out to be a victorious event for Troop 136.

"These scouts were determined," says Devine. "The thing is, during this weekend they got tested on how well they cooperated with each other and other scouts. As a result, they learned lots of leadership and cooperation skills."

Tremblay speaks proudly of the boys' accomplishments in the spirit of the underdog beating the odds.

"The scoring at these competitions tend to favor larger troops," says Tremblay. "We are one of the smaller units, so we are all ecstatic about our troop's finish. We did well in a number of competitions, but our six boys made up for being such a small-numbered group by displaying a positive attitude and plenty of Scout Spirit."

Rocco's Restaurant turns 60

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - Would you believe that sixty years have passed since Rocco's Restaurant on Route 38 began offering fine dining to Wilmington families?

"It's a milestone," acknowledges Chuck DiPasquale, who, along with his brother, Matt, manages the popular restaurant. "Not a lot of restaurants last sixty years."

Sounds like a cause for celebration, right?

"All throughout the month of July we'll be having dinner specials at 1940s prices," announces Chuck. "Actually, we'll be having various specials throughout the whole year."

It was on July 4, 1940 that Chuck's grandfather, Rocco, opened his restaurant to hungry folks from Wilmington and out-of-town.

"Everyone in town who grew up in the '50s, '60s and '70s has stories to tell about Rocco's, whether they're about eating pizzas, playing the jukebox, and so on," Chuck proudly states. "Some people may even have stories to tell about how they got chased out of the restaurant by my father. He was only five-foot-two, so he was not a big man, but you just didn't mess with him."

One of the restaurant's charms is its homey feel, from the fireplace to the large fieldstones built into the walls. If you've ever sat down for a meal at Rocco's, there's a good reason for that: It was once a summer home for the DiPasquale family.

"This place was originally built in 1937 as a summer home for my father's mother, Josephine," explains Chuck. "My grandmother had tuberculosis, and my grandparents heard that the pine in the air in Wilmington is good for someone with TB, so my grandfather built this place by hand."

Sure enough, when you pull into the parking lot of Rocco's Restaurant, you can see the tall pine trees overlooking Route 38 from the background.

When Josephine DiPasquale passed away shortly after, Chuck's grandfather, Rocco, transformed the summer home into the place now celebrating its sixtieth year. Previously, Rocco DiPasquale had been managing a bakery in Medford.

"This place has seen a lot of changes," says Chuck. "In my 41 years I've seen my grandfather and my father try a number of things. In the 1950s, we had a soda fountain here. In the 1960s, my father served donuts and breakfast for a while."

And he had some help too. At one point, Rocco Senior remarried, choosing a woman for his bride who you no doubt have known as both a familiar face and the backbone at Rocco's restaurant. You know her as "Mrs. DiPasquale." Before her trip to the altar, though, she was Angela Marinanno.

"My grandmother, Angela, worked very, very hard here for the sixty years that we've been here," Chuck says with reverence.

Chuck and Matt DiPasquale have been the third-generation family owners of Rocco's Restaurant since January of 1997. Their grandfather, of course, built the place. In 1963, their father, also named Rocco, took over the operation.

Sixty years. That's six decades of family memories for the DiPasquales.

"We used to have a brick oven," says Chuck. "It was right where our non-smoking area is now, next to the fireplace. It was a huge, wood-fired oven that my grandfather and father used to use to cook about 20 turkeys on Thanksgiving. At one point, the Board of Health stepped in, though, and said that the oven was a hazard, so they had to take it apart."

The irony? It's decades later, and now brick ovens are all the rage.

"Now Bertucci's and other restaurants have brick ovens," says Chuck. "They have brick ovens like the one that my restaurant was forced to take out in 1963."

Adds Chuck, philosophically, "I don't know if we were trendsetters, or if we were just that much far behind."

In 1997 Rocco's Restaurant expanded its offerings to include a bar where patrons can sit on a stool, order drinks, and chat it up with the bartender. It was a fitting addition, considering that 1997 marked the thirtieth anniversary of the restaurant obtaining its liquor license.

It was also fitting that Rocco's restaurant got its liquor license in 1967, for that year marked the twentieth anniversary since the bar and grill stopped serving alcoholic beverages.

"My grandfather sold beer and wine until Wilmington went dry in 1947," says Chuck.

The current bar, which is situated adjacent to the non-smoking room, looks as though it has always been there. You would never know that just three years ago it could be found at a San Antonio Bar & Grill in another town.

"My brother and I went to an auction in Brockton," says Chuck. "The bar was on sale there, and when it went up for a bidding we just went on a whim. We made a bid on it, bought it, rented three U-Haul trucks and brought it up here to Wilmington."

In 1990, the glass-enclosed lower deck of the restaurant was added. One of the first uses for the new edition was for karaoke. Mercifully, that is one of the aspects of the restaurant that has faded into its history.

Wilmington celebrated this year's 4th of July from June 29th to the big day itself. Rocco's Restaurant, which, along with America, shares July 4th for its birthday, will be celebrating well beyond that day for the entire month.

Letters to the editor

We are comforted by the compassion

Dear editor:
We would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends, neighbors and total strangers who helped us when our dog was hit and killed on Nichols Street, Wilmington.

While our pet is sorely missed, we have been comforted by the compassion that all of you showed to our children that evening. It was an unfortunate accident that can be blamed only on the boundless energy of our little mutt.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
Ken and Susanne Clarkin

There is a major traffic problem in our town center!

Dear Editor:

In response to the article in last two week's Town Criers regarding the MBTA parking lot and the Route 62/Route 38 intersection. I have a few comments. First of all, I am glad to hear that after almost two years of lengthy meetings and tens of thousands of tax dollars later, our legislators and town officials are in agreement on at least one issue - there is a major traffic problem in our town center! Let me save some time and money in saying that this problem will only get worse in the coming months.

We need to be reminded that both the Diamond Crystal and Sweetheart Plastic sites are basically closed. It is only a matter of time until they are reopened adding hundreds of cars to not only the intersection itself, as well as Main and Church Streets (and other "cut through" streets) during morning and evening commutes.

We also need to remind our elected officials that the town meeting vote was to disapprove any parking lot that did not meet approval of the Wilmington Planning Board. One can argue that the town meeting had about 200 people in attendance and our town's population is much greater. I have yet to hear anyone argue about the outcome of any other article presented. Town meetings are part of our form of local government.

The MBTA has maintained a "trust us" attitude during this entire process. I would like to commend them on the amount of time and effort that they have expended thus far. Like our town boards, they have also spent many hours working on ways to improve upon their original plan. Unfortunately, they are still falling far short of the town's major concerns. This is why this project is NOT supported by the Planning and Conservation Boards as well as the Board of Selectmen and lastly, but most importantly, by the vast majority of Wilmington residents and taxpayers.

Our legislative delegation has also spent many hours on this project as well. They are our government officials who voted in the funding through the state. I feel that they should introduce legislation to suspend (not cancel) funding on this project until the town and MBTA can come to terms that our town can live with. If in fact they cannot come into agreement, maybe the town could purchase the land from the MBTA, including the maintenance facility property, and build something the town can truly be proud of. We could put in a design including the fourth lane on Main Street, a park area (with trees and park benches) and possibly a small strip mall

— Lastly, our elected officials need to ask the MBTA what both their near term and future plans are for the maintenance facility property once the MBTA closes it down by the end of this year. Would they be willing to turn the property over to the town? If this were possible, maybe the town could create a park complete with some benches and trees. The MBTA said they are going to give some parking spaces back to the town. Could they be near this newly created park?

Our elected officials supported this project because they felt this was a "golden opportunity" to give Wilmington a center we can be truly be proud of. I urge all our residents to contact our officials and voice their opinions before any further demolition occurs and we lose our voices in the process.

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society "Light the Night" coming to Wakefield Sept 24th

WAKEFIELD Lake Quannapowitt will, once again be aglow on Sunday, September 24, 2000 as the town of Wakefield kicks off its second Annual Light the Night Walk. The event is a 2-3 mile evening walk of hope featuring illuminated balloons to commemorate lives touched by cancer. The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, formerly the Leukemia Society of America, invites everyone to register for the walk and help light the way to a cure. Funds raised, through corporate and individual contributions, will support the Society's mission to cure leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma and improve the quality of life for patients and their families.

Sign up to walk with us and join over 100 cities across the nation to salute survivors and pay tribute to loved ones touched by cancer. Individual walkers are welcome and companies and families are invited to form teams to walk in this unique event. There is no registration fee, but those raising $25 or more will carry one of The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's illuminated balloons. Cancer survivors will carry white balloons and lead the walk as a symbol of hope, while participants will carry red balloons as a symbol of support. In addition, Dedication Banners will be displayed to give everyone an opportunity to place a name or message in honor or in memory of a family member or friend with cancer. Anyone unable to participate can still place a message on the banner by contacting the local chapter. Participants will be awarded a variety of incentives based on their level of fundraising.

Registration begins at 4:30 p.m. at Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield and the walk will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. Register by calling 800-688-6572 or online at www.maleukemia-lymphoma.org.

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, now in its 51st year, is a national voluntary health agency that supports research, patient and community services, public and professional education and advocacy.

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society is the world's largest private organization concerned solely with funding research toward cures for blood related cancers such as leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma and improving the quality of life for patients and their families. As a result of ongoing research, overall survival rates for leukemia have tripled in the last 39 years. The Society is dedicated to being one of the top rated voluntary health agencies in terms of dollars that directly fund the mission: nearly 76 percent of the society's expenditures are directed to research, patient and community services, advocacy, and education. For more information about leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma, or to find one of The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's 57 chapters, visit www.leukemia-lymphoma.org or call 1-800-955-4572. Or to reach the Massachusetts Chapter, serving Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine, call (800) 688-6572 or log on to www.maleukemia-lymphoma.org

Cong. Tierney concerned over this coming winter's heating oil supply

PEABODY - U.S. Energy Secretary Bill Richardson acknowledged recently that the Administration is concerned that the heating oil crisis of last winter will be repeated unless Congress approves an emergency reserve for the Northeast.

Responding to a question from Sixth District Congressman John Tierney at a hearing before the House Government Reform Committee, Richardson said: "We're very concerned about the supply situation," he urged Congress to pass legislation creating a two million barrel heating oil reserve for the region. "We don't want to repeat what happened last winter," Richardson said.

Tierney is an original co-sponsor of legislation offered by Congressman Bernie Sanders of Vermont to establish a regional reserve. The House has authorized the reserve but has not provided the $10 million needed to fund it.

"We need to move on this proposal now," Tierney said, "or we face the very real prospect of spiraling costs and short supplies again next winter."

Secretary Richardson was among several witnesses testifying at yesterday's hearing on "Rising Fuel Prices and the Appropriate Federal Response." He was joined by Carol Browner, Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, Robert Pitofsky, Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, as well as industry and agriculture representatives.

Pitofsky told committee members that his agency's study as to whether the oil industry is culpable for last winter's prices through improper collusion or pricing is due out soon. There was also discussion about these agencies' ongoing review of possible price gouging during this time of higher gasoline prices.

Tierney told the three administrators that the significant and precipitous rise in prices without adequate explanation "raise serious concerns that oil companies have improperly, if not illegally, taken advantage of consumers." He urged prompt completion of the FTC's investigation.

10 year DeMoulas case decided

BOSTON - After 10 years of nearly constant litigation, the family of George A. Demoulas, having won every case that they have brought, has finally achieved control of the Demoulas Supermarket chain with today's order from the Supreme Judicial Court.

The case started in 1990 when George A. Demoulas brought litigation to recover family shares that were taken unlawfully by Telemachus Demoulas and members of his family. The second suit, a shareholder derivative suit, alleged that Telemachus had usurped corporate opportunities and diverted corporate assets, namely the Market Basket stores owner by the family. That suit was likewise won and affirmed by the SJC in a previous decision.

The recent SJC decision affirms a lower court decision by Judge Maria Lopez ordering the return of the remaining contested block of stock from the children of Telemachus Demoulas. With the stock return, control of the Demoulas Supermarket chain passes into the hands of the George A. Demoulas family.

Lawyers for the George A. Demoulas family, Robert C. Gerrard and Carol R. Cohen of Davis, Malm & D'Agostine, P.C., who have successfully represented the plaintiffs throughout this 10 year saga, said, "It is truly marvelous that this protracted litigation has finally and conclusively come to an end. The George A. Demoulas family is of course delighted and gratified."

Wilmington Recreation Dept.

Tiny Tots in 25th year

WILMINGTON - What do you get when you mix over one hundred four, five, six and seven-year-olds, plenty of arts and crafts projects, field trips and lots of fun? The Wilmington Recreation Department's Tiny Tot/Kids Club Program.

This summer is the 25th year of the popular Tiny Tots/Kids Club Program. Housed at the Shawsheen School, the first session is well underway. Daily themes so far have included Barnyard Friends, Muddy Puddles, and Soap and Bubbles, Crash Bang Boom, and Westward Ho. Each day the children do an arts and craft project related to the theme, read stories, play in the gym and at Kids Place next to the Shawsheen School. Louie the Lock Monster, the mascot of the Lowell Lock Monsters, even visited one day. Every Wednesday has been a Wet and Wild day where the children come prepared to get wet. Pools and sprinklers provide sure ways to beat the summer heat.

On June 23, the children participated in an in-house field trip; a Tide Pool Experience presented by the New England Aquarium. Here the children learned about the creatures that live in the tide pools along the coast of the Atlantic. They were allowed to hold such animals as hermit crabs, sea stars, sea urchins and periwinkles.

The Harnden Tavern in Wilmington was also the site of a Tiny Tots/Kids Club field trip. Mrs. Kathleen Reynolds, the curator of the Harnden Tavern Museum, gave the children a tour of this historic house. The children learned about life in Colonial days. They planted bean seeds, pretended to bake bread, and played parlor games. They learned what the Tavern was used for; explored the carriage house and herb garden and saw what life was like without air conditioning.

Upcoming events for Tiny Tots/Kids Club include a field trip to the North Shore Music Circus to see Cinderella, a Hawaiian Luau, and a show by Henry the Juggler. Session One ends July 11 and Session Two begins July 13. There are limited openings. Call the Rec. Dept. at 658-4270.

Give extra care to pets in hot weather

BOSTON - Fourth of July fireworks and summer heat waves can be extremely dangerous and stressful for pets. To keep pets calm, safe, and cool during the Independence Day celebrations and throughout the hot months of summer, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals/Animal Humane Education Society (MSPCA/AHES) have urged pet owners to take the following precautions.

"During the holiday celebrations, keep pets away from the fireworks and in a cool, quiet room or in a kennel. The room should have secure doors and windows - some dogs will jump through screens to get away from the noise."

"If pets are outside, they should be on a leash, have proper identification and should not be left with children or others who may not be able to control a frightened animal."

"Pets should always have access to constant shade, properly ventilated shelter and fresh water."

"Clean up fireworks fragments after the celebration. Animals and young children may be injured from playing with or ingesting stray remnants."

"Never leave pets in hot cars. Even with windows slightly open, a car can heat up to 100 degrees on an 85 degree day in as little as 10 minutes and 120 degrees in a half hour. Animals are very susceptible to heat stress and these temperatures make a car like an oven. When going on errands, leave your pet at home."

"If you see a pet in distress in a hot car, contact the nearest authorities immediately."

"If you notice heat stress symptoms such as severe panting or in extreme cases, staggering, weakness and collapse, lower the animal's body temperature by holding it down with cool water. Ice packs may be applied to the head and neck area. The animal should then receive prompt veterinary attention."

"Exercise your pet in the early morning or evening hours when the temperature is lower. Start a pet's exercise program gradually and make sure they are in good health before starting the program."

For more heat wave pet case information, contact the MSPCA at (617) 522-7400 or visit www.MSPCA.org.

Cong. John Tierney opposes drug bill

PEABODY - Following a day of bitter debate and an extremely close vote, Sixth District Congressman John Tierney denounced the Republican-sponsored prescription drug bill as a public relations stunt that will do nothing to help America's seniors cope with the soaring costs of prescription drugs.

"This bill is a sham," Tierney said. "It sets up a drugs-only insurance scheme that even the insurance companies say cannot work, and it raises false hopes for seniors coping with the high cost of medications."

Tierney and other Democrats had pressed for consideration of an alternative proposal that would have included prescription drugs as a benefit under Medicare, a plan that he said would have been "a major step toward guaranteeing that affordable, voluntary and reliable drug coverage is available to every senior who wants it." The Republican leadership refused to allow debate on that proposal, however.

In the end the Republican sponsored bill passed by a vote of 217-214, with five Democrats voting with the Republicans and 10 Republicans joining the Democrats. Senate action is uncertain, and President Clinton has promised to veto anything resembling the House bill.

"This bill will enrich the insurance industry and drug manufacturers, but it will do nothing for seniors," Tierney said. "Solving this problem is going to take more than public relations gimmicks, but that's what we got yesterday in the House."

June 28th shooting

Victim remains in critical condition

By FRANK J. AMATO

WILMINGTON - A Dorchester man remains in critical condition at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington after suffering a gunshot to the head at the FedEx plant in Wilmington. The shooting, which occurred at noontime on Wednesday, June 28, was done with a small caliber handgun.

The Wilmington Police Department has not released the name of the victim.

Police are searching for Vjorn Hewitt, 20, of 15 Wainwright Street in Boston. It is Hewitt that authorities believe shot the victim after a heated argument.

The investigation into the shooting has picked up some steam. Police have recovered the victim's automobile, which the shooter used to flee the crime scene. The car, a 2000 Silver Hyundai, was found near the shooter's residence in Dorchester.

Blood was found inside the Hyundai. Currently, scientists at the State Police Crime Lab and Wilmington Inspectors Patrick King and David Sugrue are analyzing the blood.

Hewitt and the victim worked together as sub-contractors for Coverall Cleaning Concepts of Boston, a business that is located in Woburn. A company spokesman refused to comment on the situation.

According to Inspector King, the victim and suspect were friends who knew each other well prior to the shooting.

Due to the condition of the victim and a lack of witnesses, police have not offered any explanations as to what the pair may have been arguing about.

When Hewitt is apprehended by police, he will be charged with armed assault with the intent to murder; assault and battery with a dangerous weapon; and carrying a firearm without a license.

Anyone with information about the case is urged to contact Wilmington Police Inspector Pat King at 657-8082 or 657-5071.

WILMINGTON INSPECTOR DAVID SUGRUE examines a pair of boots that stands as evidence in the shooting that took place at the FedEx plant on Concord Street on Wednesday, June 28. The boots belong to the victim, who remains in critical condition at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington. (Frank Amato photo)

Embezzler nabbed

By Frank J. Amato

WILMINGTON - A Lowell man was arrested by Wilmington Police, Thursday, June 29, 2000, on charges that he embezzled $100,000 from his employer over a 5 month period. John Wilkins, 30, 1040 Bridge Street, Lowell, allegedly created a fictitious employee while working as payroll clerk for Heiland Electronics, 58 Jonspin Road, Wilmington.

The alleged theft was discovered when the firm's President was reviewing the payroll records and noticed an employee that was unfamiliar to him, and contacted Wilmington Police. According to police, Wilkins allegedly transferred company funds to the account of the bogus employee. Wilkins is free on personal recognizance on larceny charges. After Wilkins was arrested, police executed a search warrant for his home, on Bridge Street, in Lowell, and recovered numerous items of value, which police believe are connected to the payroll scam. Due to the nature of the crime, police are working with investigators from the Middlesex District Attorney's Office. Police indicated that the investigation would continue for some time. Officers participating in the investigation are: Lt. Robert Spencer, Sgt. Dave McCue, Inspectors Tom Miller, Dave Sugrue, and Jim White. Frank Amato 603-881-7060 frama-to@earthlink.net intersection of Routes 38 and 62.

Funding must begin again before the project can move forward.

"We have no funding for the Route 38 project," said Onusseit. "We don't know where the money went."

Senator Tarr had a good guess. "It went to the Big Dig," he suggested.

• BUG PATROL. Town Manager Michael Caira informed the Board of Selectmen that the Central Massachusetts Mosquito Control Project (CMMCP) has set its pesticide-spraying dates for the month of July.

On these following dates, the CMMCP will be going throughout the community of Wilmington and treating areas with high mosquito populations: July 6; 12; 19; 20; 26; and August 2.

If, by chance, you have a family barbecue planned in your back yard on any of these nights, or if you simply wish not to have your property sprayed, please notify the Town Clerk's Office at 658-3311.

These dates may change if inclement weather or varying mosquito populations ever become a factor.

• REQUESTS APPROVED. The board has allowed the Reading Municipal Light Board and New England Telephone to relocate a telephone pole on Glen Road.

• McDONALD ROAD. Town Manager Caira has invited Robert McGrath, the Project Manager at the firm Woodard & Curran, to the July 17 Selectmen meeting to update the board and the public on the progress being made on McDonald Road. McGrath is managing the removal of drums containing hazardous wastes that were dumped at the location thirty years ago.

Gary Lipsten, the Site Coordinator of the Environmental Protection Agency, has also been invited to the meeting.

• TAXI CABS REVISITED. Selectmen Michael McCoy, who was absent from the board's June 12 meeting, made a motion to rescind the vote that was cast to have residency restrictions removed from the town's Taxi Cab Rules and Regulations. At the last meeting, a majority of Selectmen was mustered to meet local cab company owner Tim Flynn's request that a restriction requiring taxi cab operators like himself to reside here in Wilmington be stricken.

McCoy wished to vote in favor of reinstating the restriction because after doing some math he figured that removing the requirement would unnecessarily tie the town's hands.

"Mr. Flynn said that he makes maybe fifty rounds a week," said McCoy. "If you multiply that number by five bucks, it just seems to me that $250 isn't enough to warrant such a change. Maybe if it was $2,500, but it isn't. I just think the residency restriction helps us maintain some control."

Selectman Rooney, who voted against removing the residency requirement at the June 12 meeting, seconded McCoy's motion. Rooney feels the removal of the residency requirement puts local "mom and pop" businesses at risks from out-of-town conglomerates.

After a vote was taken, though, nothing had changed. Chairman Michael Newhouse and Selectmen Dan Wandell and Robert Cain voted in favor of keeping the residency requirement out of the "rules and regs."

Drug initiative to be debated appear on the ballot this fall.

Middlesex District Attorney Martha Coakley is one of those eleven. She will participate in the debate to argue the position that Petition P is hazardous to law enforcement agencies, parents, and their children.

Says Anson Kaye, the Spokesperson for the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, "We think that this debate is a tremendous opportunity to discuss an important issue. The D.A.s have been looking for ways to educate the public about what Petition P would do, and this debate will be a great way to do that."

Wilmington and Tewksbury

Chiefs of Police Bobby Stewart and John Mackey will join Coakley in the debate as voices of opposition to Petition P.

Communications Director Stewart is equally enthusiastic with the opportunity to discuss the issue.

"We do welcome the opportunity to have a debate on the issue that is based on the facts," says Stewart. "We do believe that this initiative would close all of the loopholes in Massachusetts' drug policies and provide smarter drug policies for everyone."

The debate will be conducted in a closed studio setting. It will be taped and aired by WCTV on Channel 22 on the following dates and times:

- Thursday, July 13 and 20 at 3 p.m.
- Fridays, July 14 and 21 at 7 and 9 p.m.
- Mondays, July 17 and 24 at 4 p.m.
- Wednesday, July 19 and 26 at 5 and 9 p.m.

earlier not-guilty plea and instead pled guilty to two charges, one of killing the animal of another person and a second one for cruelty to an animal. Both Attorney Lewin and the Commonwealth had their own proposals for the penalties that Scalise should receive. Judge Broker took some time to evaluate Scalise's case, but in the end she rejected both sides' proposals and delivered her own.

Attorney Lewin could not be reached for comment.

The cat, named "Ricky Ricardo" for the way he bantered with a fellow pet, was a member of the family of Wilmington resident Cheryl Kennedy. Kennedy could not be reached for her thoughts on Scalise's sentence.

department's salary account this year when an officer suffered an injury on-duty. To cover it, funds were needed. AMOUNT: $36,000.

Now that the Finance Committee has approved the transfer of these funds, the town's Reserve Account now carries a balance of $130,439.

"That's only $9,561 less than the original fiscal year 2000 Reserve Account appropriation," says Caira.

By Caira's estimation, the final, year-end figure of $130,439 comprises of 93% of the initial appropriation made to the Reserve Account in the 2000 budget. As a result, the account now will accrue a positive free-cash balance.

Obituaries

Paul H. Flagg, 87 served in the United States Navy

Paul H. Flagg, a longtime resident of Wilmington, died on Sunday, July 2 in Lowell. He was 87.

Mr. Flagg was the dear husband of Amy (Woodside) Flagg. He was the father of Paul F. Flagg, who lives in Tewksbury with his wife, Virginia. Mr. Flagg was also the brother of the late Arthur Flagg of Tewksbury.

Mr. Flagg was born in Wilmington in 1913. He was a machinist by occupation. Mr. Flagg joined the U.S. Navy in 1940 and served for 20 years. While in the Navy, he saw service in the American Theatre, the Asiatic-Pacific region, Europe, Africa, and the Middle East Theatre of Operations. He was the Chief Petty Officer in the Engine Room operations of the various ships to which he was assigned.

After 20 years in the Navy, Mr. Flagg left the service and returned to Wilmington, where he continued to work at his trade.

Mr. Flagg was a late member of Overseas Lodge of Masons of Rhode Island.

Funeral services will be held at Nichols Funeral Home at 187 Middlesex Avenue in Wilmington on Thursday at 11 a.m. Reverend Herb Taylor will officiate. Visiting hours will be on Wednesday between 2 and 4 p.m. and 7 and 9 p.m. Mr. Flagg will be buried in Wildwood Cemetery.

CONFRONTING A STARK REALITY

Confronting the death of a friend is occasion for much grief and soul searching. As Antoine de Saint-Exupery lamented: "On the day of a burial there is no perspective for space itself is annihilated. Your dead friend is still a fragmentary being. The day you bury him is a day of chores and crowds, of hands false or true to be shaken, of the immediate cares of mourning. The dead friend will not really die until tomorrow.

when silence is round you again. Then he will show himself complete, as he was - to tear himself away, as he was, from the substantial you. Only then will you cry out because of him who is leaving and whom you cannot detain."

A funeral service can fill an important need in today's society. It provides for a dignified and respectful caring of the deceased, and can give special tribute to an individual's unique life. At FARMER & DEE FUNERAL HOME, 16 Lee Street, you'll find a home-like atmosphere for friends and family to gather in and provide comforting support. Wilmington Senior Topics WILMINGTON - Summer has arrived along with the heat. Please remember that the Senior Center is air conditioned, so come down and cool off.

The Summer Lunch Program has started at the high school. Please remember to call a day ahead for lunch reservations. The lunches are served at 11:30 a.m. This schedule will continue through August 11. Enjoy your meals.

Believe it not, plans for the fall are in progress. We have dates for the yard sale and holiday sale. We are in the process of looking for volunteers for both events. If anyone is interested please notify the director. Come and share the fun: Saturday, September 16, Yard Sale; Saturday, November 18, Holiday Fair.

This month we are fortunate to have a live performance by Denise Doucette - "Songs of Magic" that is sponsored by the Wilmington Arts Council. This is not only a great opportunity to sit back and relax, but immediately after, we will be having an ice cream social. This event will be on July 12. Please sign up at the front desk.

Also, our "Fan Drive" has started again. Anyone able to donate a fan or air conditioner, please contact the Senior Center at 657-7595. If anyone should know of any senior in need of a fan, please call the director, Terri Marciello, at 657-7595.

All information is kept confidential. Please, during this terrible heat look out for your elderly neighbors. Thank you.

July events:
July 9, Amesbury Playhouse Dinner Theater, buses will leave at 10:30 a.m.

July 12, Shine Counselor, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Live entertainment - Denise Doucette, 1:30 p.m. "Songs of Magic," sponsored by the Wilmington Council for the Arts; ice cream social immediately after.

July 17, Sign up for August cook-out will be on August 9; $3.00.

July 18, Commissioners meeting, 1:30 p.m.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

TEWKSBURY - The seniors will hold a Breakfast Benefit Sunday, July 9 at the Senior Center from 7:30 to 11. Tickets will be available at the door: $4 for adults; $2 for children under 12 and toddlers free. The menu will include pancakes with hot syrup, scrambled eggs, bacon, home fries, beans, cinnamon bread and beverages. All proceeds will benefit the Senior Center Building Fund.

Those seniors helping out with the setup and preparation for the breakfast should note that work will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday, July 7.

Thursday, July 6, is the last day to sign up for the July SERVE food package. One may register at the Senior Center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. For more information, call Mary Ann Wareham at 851-3344.

Golfers interested in participating in the "Friends Annual Golf Connection" Tournament may call Mrs. Wareham at the above number. The seniors welcome the public to take part in the Golf Connection which will be held Monday, September 11, at the Andover Country Club. Proceeds from this event will benefit the Senior Center Building Fund.

A Senior Center "Cootie Party" will be held Monday, July 10, beginning at 1 p.m. Why not go on down and find out what cootie is all about. It's guaranteed to be a fun afternoon.

The Council on Aging will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, July 13, in the main hall at the Senior Center beginning at 3 p.m. All are welcome.

Once again, we caution senior citizens and the general public to be careful during the hot and humid days of summer. The best thing to do on those days is to stay cool in an air conditioned environment. If you don't have air conditioning, try visiting a mall, movie theater, library or the Senior Center. Use fans for air circulation and do not over exert yourself. Drink plenty of fluids such as water and juices. Avoid alcoholic beverages, the direct sun and wear light and loose fitting clothing.

The following day trips still have a few openings: Yokens and Hampton Beach, Friday, July 14 at $5 per person; George's Island, Monday, July 24 at $7 per person with participants packing a lunch for the day; and the Mohegan Sun for three hours along with a stop at Capt. John's for a lobster or prime rib luncheon at $44 per person. We are hoping to have some August trips noted soon.

A reminder that bocce games are held each Wednesday morning around nine o'clock, weather permitting. Also, you may want to check out the softball schedule at the Senior Center. The Senior Citizen softball team holds games and practice Monday and Thursday mornings at Memorial Field, Livingston Street Park unless they have an away game.

The last day to obtain tickets for the July 21 monthly Senior Citizen Dance will be Friday, July 14. A Chinese food buffet will be held at 6:30 p.m. followed by dancing to the sounds of the Reflections Band.

It is hoped that everyone enjoyed the 4th of July holiday. Have a great week and remember to keep cool!

A PRAYER TO APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

(My miracle prayer)
Holy Spirit, You who solve all problems, light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and that in all instances of my life You are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even and in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with You in eternal glory. Thank You for Your mercy toward me and mine. The person must say this prayer for 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately without mentioning the favor.
7/5/00 P.S.

ST. JUDE'S NOVENA

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and praised throughout the world now and forever, Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, help the hopeless, pray for us.
Say this prayer nine times a day, by the 8th day your prayer will be answered. It has never been none to fail. Publication must be answered. My prayers have been answered.
7/5/00 M.T.

"May thy soul and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the Mercy of God, Rest in Peace." Amen

Friends' Book Sale Record Success

The Friends of the Library Annual Book Sale was a record success! This ambitious fundraiser enables the Friends to support many library programs and initiatives. Since January 2000, the Friends have given the library $1650 for library programs for adults and children, which are free to the public.

Costly programs, such as, guest author Roland Merullo ($400) and Boston Children's Theater Salute to the Sea ($550) would not be possible without Friends' financial support. The Friends have also purchased furnishings for the library such as chairs, bulletin boards and literature racks ($3345) that make the library a more welcoming environment for patrons to browse and read.

It goes without saying that a successful book sale needs lots of buyers interested in buying books. So thanks to everyone who came to the book sale and purchased books!

Kudos to the Book Sale Committee who gave hundreds of hours of their time to the book sale fund raiser. This year-long endeavor involves much planning and coordinating many tasks including sorting, phone calling, publicity, hospitality, scheduling, etc. Thanks, especially to Fundraising Chair, Karen Campbell, and all the dedicated book sale volunteers for their tireless efforts in making our public library a better one for the community.

A special thanks to the Public Buildings Department for moving thousands of books between the Swain School storage site and the library.

James P. Riley has joined the United States Army

TEWKSBURY - James P. Riley III, son of Michelle N. Pierce of Cherry Lane, Tewksbury and James P. Riley of Lowell, has joined the United States Army under the Delayed Entry Program. The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay entering active duty for up to one year.

The enlistment gives the new soldier the option to learn a new skill, travel and become eligible to receive as much as $50,000 toward a college education. After completion of basic military training, soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty.

Riley, a 2000 graduate of Nashoba Valley Technical High School in Westford, will report to Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C. for basic training July 5.

WILMINGTON U-13 YOUTH SOCCER TEAM AT LAST WEEKEND'S MTOC: kneeling, l-r: Katharine McMahon, Lani Cabral-Pini, Jackie Rideout, Kelly Crosby, Debbie Lyons, Celine DeMaggio, Teresa DeSimone, Jessica Alosco.

Standing: Holly Brown, Alicia Braid, Bridget Kent, Caitlin Foley, Krystina Smith, Ryan Murphy, Sarah McGowan, Caitlin McNab. Missing from the picture - Kerry Porter.

Under 12 Girls soccer team goes to states

The GU12A team had the honor of competing in the Mass. Tournament of Champions held at UMass-Amherst on June 23, 24, 25, 26 at the Division I level. The girls were very excited about representing Wilmington and for most of them, playing in the biggest athletic event of their young lives.

On Saturday, the team had two games scheduled with the first being played against a team from Palmer. The girls came out a little tight and tentative but played a very steady game.

The AAA defense of Alicia Murray, Alison Audette and Alyssa Bibeau had their hands full as Palmer put the pressure on from the beginning but they were up to the task. The game went up and down the field as midfielders Kim Gentile, Mallory DeRosa, Jackie Stokes and Amanda Miles all took turns feeding the ball up to the forwards.

Erica Frizol worked several balls into Kathleen Strazzere for some nice shots. Jen Comer, playing very aggressively, managed to work the right side for some great shots.

Palmer was able to break through on the only defensive let down of the game for a 1-0 lead. Wilmington responded with some very nice playmaking as midfielders Katie Celli and Danielle O'Shea sent the ball deep into Palmer's end and forwards Amber Warnick and Erin Magee blasted some nice shots that went just wide of the goal.

In the end, Wilmington just couldn't manage to put one in the net and suffered a 1-0 loss.

In the second game of the day, the sun was out full blast and everyone felt the heat as the girls took the field against Pittsfield. This game was no different from the first, with both teams showing off their soccer skills.

Forwards Jillian Guzinski and Jackie Mello stepped up their play a notch as they connected for a few great opportunities in the beginning of the game. Stopper Taylor Duffy also teamed up with Alison Audette and Alicia Murray to break down any attempts by Pittsfield to score first. Keeper Julia Stein continued to play outstanding in the goal as she made several great saves and continually booted the ball to the half line.

Mallory DeRosa, playing with a badly bruised toe, refused to back down and she sent ball after ball up to forwards Jen Comer, Erica Frizol and Kathleen Strazzere. Jen, Erica, and Kat worked several combinations to try to break through for a score, but to no avail.

Amanda Miles and Danielle O'Shea also put the pressure on as they put a few shots on goal from the midfield, and Erin Magee and Amber Warnick swooped in for any loose balls to get that one goal to win the game. In the end of this defensive struggle the score remained 0-0 and the girls were looking to come back for a win on Sunday.

ing to come back for a win on Sunday.

On Sunday, the girls had their work cut out for them as they took on the undefeated team from Weymouth. Weymouth had won 3-1 and 1-0 on Saturday, and was looking for a sweep, but the girls from Wilmington were in no mood to allow this to happen. Once again the teams played evenly, with Alyssa Bibeau, Alison Audette and Alicia Murray defusing Weymouth's potent offense. Keeper Julia Stein once again was stellar in goal as she smothered all shots sent her way. Stopper Taylor Duffy was powered up this day as she played an outstanding game from end to end.

The midfield team work of Jackie Mello, Jackie Stokes and Katie Celli started to show off some powerful kicks and forwards Jillian Guzinski, Erin Magee and Amber Warnick teamed up to set up several nice shots on goal.

Weymouth finally got on the scoreboard first with a beautifully placed shot just under the crossbar. Wilmington came flying back as Jen Comer blew down the right side of the field and blasted a shot that caught the underside of the cross bar and then caromed off the left goal post and right back into the Weymouth keeper's hands.

At this point the girls realized that they weren't going to get lucky this weekend so they went out and created their own form of luck by playing hard nosed soccer. Danielle O'Shea took a throw in and placed it on the feet of Kim Gentile. Kim faked out a player and then passed back to Jackie Stokes who shifted inside and blasted a ball right past the Weymouth keeper to tie the score.

A few minutes later, Weymouth retook the lead on the only mistake of this game as they shot in a botched clearing kick.

This only fired up the girls even more as they came right back down the field and tied up the game on an almost identical play as their first goal. This time Katie Celli sent a ball outside to Kim Gentile who again played it back to Jackie Stokes. Once again Jackie Stokes blasted a ball over the Weymouth defense and through the legs of a screened keeper to tie up the score 2-2.

One minute later, Jen Comer, using her blazing speed outran two defenders to a ball that was played into the right corner of the field. Jen, running full speed, blasted the ball at an almost impossible angle and into the far upper left corner of the net for what seemed like the winning goal with one minute to go. But one linesman on the left side apparently not understanding the offside rule called someone from Wilmington offside on the far side, even though they weren't involved in the play and the ref took the goal away and the game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Even though the game's outcome was different than the girls had planned, they had a blast at the tournament and were happy to have had this experience of playing for a state title.

The coaches and parents once again would like to congratulate the girls on an outstanding season and wish them good luck in the future.

Under 13 Girls face Westford in playoff game

After a very successful spring season, the Lady Wildcats traveled to Amherst, over the weekend of June 24 and 25 to attend the Massachusetts Tournament of Champions (MTOC). A playoff game between Westford and Wilmington had determined that Westford would attend the MTOC as Middlesex Division 2 champions and Wilmington qualified to attend as a wild card team.

Game one was played Saturday morning at 9 against Middleborough. The first half was an adjustment as both teams worked to adjust to the field and to the excitement of being in the tournament. Jessica Alosco started off the scoring, lofting one from the corner that curled beautifully around the keeper and into the upper corner of the net. Debbie Lyons then fed a pass to Caitlin McNab who had a great shot on net, besting the keeper to make the score 2-0. Middleborough came back with a goal to make the score 2-1.

They fought hard, but could not penetrate the Wilmington defense again. Jackie Rideout finished the scoring for the Lady Wildcats, giving them their first win of the tournament, 3-1. Ryan Murphy, Lani Cabral-Pini and Teresa DeSimone kept the pressure on, making sure most of the play was in the Middleborough zone.

This game was also a defensive gem with the Lady Wildcats keeping their zone cleared and keeper Alicia Braid ably turning away all shots but one. Sarah McGowan, Holly Brown and Kerry Porter skillfully broke up the Middleborough offensive attacks, allowing Wilmington to control most of the play. Game two was a rematch with a team Wilmington had played the previous year in the MTOC, Easton. Easton had gone on to win the 1999 tournament so the Lady Wildcats were anxious to see how they matched up in the year 2000. The assigned field of play was short and narrow, hindering both teams ability to dribble and pass up the wing. Plus, the longer kick was not beneficial.

As the game progressed, it became obvious the Wilmington team was better able to match Easton and the girls stepped up to meet the pressure. Bridget Kent, Katharine McMahon, Jessica Alosco, Teresa DeSimone and Lani Cabral Pini were among the offensive players keeping the pressure on Easton. Unfortunately, Wilmington was unable to best the Easton keeper.

Defensively, Wilmington was a determined group. Krystina Smith and Celine DeMaggio played outstanding defense and suffered the physical consequences as a result. Kerry Porter, Caitlin Foley and Kelly Crosby helped withstand the Easton onslaught and Wilmington came away with a 0-0 tie. The tie gave Wilmington a 1-0-1 record and Easton went to a 0-1-1 record, effectively removing them from second round play.

Game three was played Sunday morning against a tough team from Groton-Dunstable. This team had beaten Easton so the Lady Wildcats knew they had to step up to get a win. Jackie Rideout started the scoring part way through the first half, teasing the keeper out, scoring on an open net. Krystina Smith scored in the second half, lofting one over the defense and the keeper on a direct kick. Wilmington 2-

Groton/Dunstable 0.

Katharine McMahon, Ryan Murphy, Bridget Kent and Debbie Lyons put forth a great effort with the Wildcat offense to keep the Groton-Dunstable team off balance. Wilmington controlled most of the game but the defense again had to step up to keep a determined Groton-Dunstable team out of the Wilmington zone.

Keeper Alicia Braid again turned away all shots and she had a superb defense in front of her. Caitlin Foley, Krystina Smith, Sarah McGowan, Celine DeMaggio and Kelly Crosby protected their zone effectively, ensuring a Wilmington win.

For the second round, Wilmington was seeded first on the strength of their 2-0-1 record. They were the only team in the first round not to have lost a game. What a difference a year makes!

The top four teams advanced to the semifinals and Wilmington was matched up against Medway. The game was held Sunday afternoon with less than perfect weather conditions. The strong wind and hot weather made it difficult for both teams in this, the fourth game in two days.

Medway was also a bigger team and this was to their advantage in keeping up the offensive pressure. Wilmington, though, never gave up. They kept trying to setup the offense, but Medway came away with a 2-0 win.

The team was awarded bronze medals for their accomplishment at the MTOC. Congratulations to each and every team member on an outstanding tournament. They played with finesse, determination, sportsmanship and skill. Playing against predominantly older players is physically demanding and the Lady Wildcats did not back down from the challenge at any time. They are a gifted group of players and deserve every success.

Special needs program

Bernie McNally
Special kids, $60, Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Wednesday, July 5-Tuesday, August 15 (Woburn Street School). This program is for Wilmington youths with special needs. We are again allowing up to 15 mainstream youngsters to join the program too. This concept is known as "inclusion." The program provides a wholesome mixture of indoor and outdoor activities, field trips, swimming games, crafts, singing and lots of fun! Register in the Recreation Office any time. Cost is $50 each for a family's second and third child. The program will take place at the Woburn Street School alongside our playground program.

Town Beach

Now through Sunday, August 20 at Silver Lake.

The public beach at Silver Lake provides our finest natural recreation resource. Qualified lifeguards supervise the facility from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Saturday and from noon to 7 p.m. Sundays. Come enjoy the sun and your own sandy beach. Wilmington residents may use the beach at no charge. We also invite residents from other Massachusetts towns to share our beach at the seasonal rate of $30 per adult and $10 per child or a family rate of $70. Out-of-towners may purchase identifying season tags in the Rec Office any weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Proof of residency may be required. Day passes for out-of-towners at $3 apiece may be purchased at the beach.

Basketball clinics
North Intermediate gym, Monday through Friday, July 10-14 for ages 8-13 and July 24-28 for ages six through seven from 9 to 10:30 or 10:30 to noon. Cost is $18.

Twilight basketball league
It's coed for those entering grades five through 11. Teams play twice a week in the evening for six weeks beginning July 6 through August 10. Cost is $25. Games are at 6, 7, 8 or 9 p.m. at the North or Shawshen. Games are between Sunday and Thursday evenings.

Babysitting course
Gunter Wellenstein, EMT
We are offering this class for grades five and up on Wednesday, July 26 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the town hall auditorium. Certificates will be awarded. Cost of program is $27.50. Please take a small snack, drink and doll to class.

Top secret science workshops

Michael Bergen, Mass. Science Center. Grades 2-5 (completed) $15 per class, Wed., and Thurs., August 16 and 17 from 1 to 4 p.m. in town hall auditorium. Try this fun way to experiment with science. Children will interact, investigate, explore and create. Wednesday's theme is Aeronautical Adventures while Thursday's theme is Wacky Water and Air experiments.

Golf lessons

Barrie Bruce, Billerica Country Club
Youth ages nine to 12, Mon., through Fri., 1 to 2:30 p.m., July 17-21 or August 14-18; $75.
Ages 13 & up, Saturdays, July 8-August 5, 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.; $105
Ages 13 and up, Sundays, July 9-August 6, 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.; $105.

Video Camp

WCTV Studios, Swain School
Grades five to nine will use real tv equipment and produce their own show. Dates are Monday through Friday, July 10 to 14 or August 14-18 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The $10 fee goes for annual WCTV membership.

Sport Camps

Leanne Harris, town hall
Monday-Friday, $20, grades four and five (completed), 9:30 a.m. to noon and grades six-eight (completed) 1 to 3:30 p.m., August 21-25. Learn and participate in a variety of sports and games. Signup as soon as these sessions may fill up quickly.

Canoe/boat rental

They're $10 per day, $15 per weekend or $3 per hour (minimum of two hours).

Town sweatshirts

They're pictorial Wilmington at its best. We've got sweatshirts in white ($20). They make great gifts.

VCR tapes

We have a wide variety of VCR tapes for loan. Come see this expanding library. Our Disney vacation tapes and ESPN sports tapes are especially popular.

Concerts

Town Common
Sweet melodies will fill the air over the common again this summer. Free concerts will be Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 July 12, 19, 26 and August 2.

Jackson wins Stock Car race

George Jackson, owner of CARS, Complete Automotive Repair Service, 200 Andover Street in Wilmington, won an Accel Chargers Street Stock race over outstanding competitors at Star Speedway in Epping, N.H. on June 17, 2000.

Jackson comes from a family of former distinguished race car drivers. "General" Jackson moved to the front of the pack after 14 laps. He skillfully held the lead over outstanding opponents for the next 11 circuits to win the action packed race.

George draws a lot of attention whenever he competes. "Action" Jackson is the one to watch in future races.

ANNETTE LYSAN and her "Uncle John" Dillingham of England share a special moment, before she goes off to be a happy, healthy, normal child with cousins (at right) - Kelly Scott (1) and Ann Lysonski - during a get together over the weekend. Annette's family and friends gathered to welcome Dillingham and his wife, Jackie, to this country. Uncle John donated his bone marrow, over two years ago, to help save Annette's life. George Guyette and Bob Butler went fishing. They were pulling them in left and right when a game warden came upon them and demanded to see their licenses. Bob Butler took off and the warden after him in hot pursuit. After about two miles Bob Butler stopped running and produced a valid fishing license. "For crying out loud," the out of breath game warden exclaimed, "why did you let me chase you?" Bob Butler smiled and replied, "because my friend George Guyette doesn't have a license."

Joe D'Ambrosio and Chris Corbelle went bear hunting in Alaska last year. I visited Joe during the holidays and when I noticed a giant Kodiak Bear in his game room I asked, "Wow! what's that bear stuffed with?" Joe D'Ambrosio smiled and said, "Chris Corbelle, he couldn't run as fast as I could."

Folks, I'm an Elk, Moose and a Lion member. I didn't dare go out of my house during the hunting season.

Unsung hero from Great Britain

The gift of life

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

It is fitting in a way that as this country celebrates its independence from British rule, a first time visitor arrived on the shores to meet the now five year-old girl he gave the independence of a new life to.

John Dillingham of Billingham, England is one of the unsung heroes of the world, who truly gives a part of themselves to help others. In this case, Dillingham underwent a painful procedure that allowed Annette Lysan of Wakefield to obtain his life-saving bone marrow.

On seeing the young child, he said, "I think she is a lovely, and bubbly thing. Seeing her has been a reality (check)."

His wife Jackie, said, "Up until now, it has been like reading a book and not knowing the ending."

The amazing part of the story is that the Dillinghams first registered as possible bone marrow donors some 25 years ago when they were first married.

"I was 18 and we were giving blood," John recalled, "and they asked us if we wanted to register. We said yes."

Jackie, who is two years younger than her husband said, "We actually were one of the first people to register."

That was with the then just founded Anthony Nolan Trust, which had been established to help the young British youngster the trust is named in memory of, find a donor. It was too late for the lad.

"It (registering) was one of the first things we did as a married couple."

As to the reaction some 20 years later, when notified of a possible recipient, John said, "I was apprehensive at first."

He explained that he went through with it after discussing it with his family, including a daughter Zoe, now 15, and a son

Daniel, now 17.

The decision was a yes.

Jackie said it was sort of like making an ages old commitment and then having to keep it.

"It is not like saying to a child 'you can have a sweet' and when you get to the sweet shop, say no."

Although the donor and recipient are not supposed to know each other's identity until after everything has been set and the marrow has established itself into the recipient, John said it all became a bit more relevant for him when he got a sneak peak at the medical records. With that peak he was able to determine that his donation was going to a "little girl from the United States."

Under the rules set up by the Trust, the Dillinghams should not have known anything at all until two years later. The rules set up by the American Human Leukocyte Antigens (HLA) Registry Foundation and the National Marrow Donor Program (NMDP) Registry call for only a one year delay.

In Switzerland, the donor and the recipient are never allowed to meet.

Jackie explained that this is done so that no contact can be made with the donor, if the recipient needs a back-up supply of marrow or a blood donation to beef up the marrow.

However, Annette's parents Paul Lysan and Leslie Scott Lysan were able to send some anonymous notes to the donor with the help of the registries in both countries.

On their part they had to sign the letters Your recipients mom and dad.

Bickford's Restaurant now open

STONEHAM It's 'Breakfast Anytime' for the new Bickfords Restaurant recently opened in Stoneham.

Located at 163 Main Street in Stoneham, the new Bickfords is owned by the Elix Corporation. The business' national affiliations span throughout New England.

The new restaurant employs 45 people and their motto is to keep guest and children happy.

Restaurant Manager Debbie Maeti has 12 years experience with Bickfords and is excited about the new Stoneham location.

"I'm thrilled about the Stoneham location. I drive two hours each way, each day, to run the Stoneham location."

Store hours are 6:30 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 6:30 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

The restaurant is conveniently located off exit 38 off Route 128. It is down about a 1 1/4 miles on your right.

Debbie has enjoyed working in Stoneham and said, "It's a wonderful town, the people have been so nice."

The restaurant's goal for the coming year is to continually increase the business and to offer a clean and friendly family atmosphere.

Visa, Master Card, and American Express are accepted. The new restaurant can be contacted at 438-3627.

Actors' Studio has workshop

Actors Studio of North Reading is running 3 weeks of theatre workshops for children this summer. Students can choose from three plays to be "Improved" at the Studio.

James and the Giant Peach - July 17 thru 21; The Fairy's Mistake - July 24 thru 28; and Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone - July 31 thru August 4. Theatre improvisations are for students ages 6 to 15.

No previous experience is necessary. The theatre workshops conclude with an informal performance at the end of each week. Sign up quickly to avoid cancellations.

For more information, please call Susan of Actors Studio, 978-664-1425 or stop by at 246 Main Street, Suite #8 in North Reading.

"Expressions" opens in Wakefield

Expressions home decor retail store is one of the latest additions to Wakefield center.

Located at 5 Lincoln Street in Wakefield, Expressions had its Grand Opening on June 1. The store offers accent decor, antiques, jewelry, furniture and gift items.

Owner Mary Forest is excited about her goals for the upcoming year.

She says, "I would like to be known for unique home decor and accessories. My goal is to satisfy customer needs and be a success in Wakefield."

Mary has an extensive background in color and accessoring. She was in the floral business for twenty years. She worked in the town of Winchester for seven years doing floral business.

Mary has found that she has been getting frequent browsers in her store.

"I have noticed that some of the same people have come back to see what new and exciting additions I have made to the store."

Furniture can be custom colored to match clients home and decor. Mary also notes that she is willing to look for certain pieces of accessories for customers.

Mary is willing to go to clients homes for color consultation and decorating ideas.

Expressions hours are 9:30 - 5:30 Tuesday through Friday, Saturday 8:30 until 1:00 p.m.

Visa, Master Card, American Express, and Discover cards accepted.

Mary says, "The response from the town has been great. People have been very positive and supportive toward the new store."

Expressions can be reached at 781-245-9992 and is located across from the Water Street Parking Lot.

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

Elm St., Stoneham

"Since wisdom often comes with age, there is much to be learned from our senior citizens, and one such group down on Elm Street has something to share that could change your life," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"When was the last time you stopped and focused on your breathing? Your fingertips? Your hands? Your shoulders? Your spine? When was the last time you spent an hour of wholesome relaxation and fitness - away from the carpool, the cell phone and the stress?"

"For the past year and a half, the Stoneham Senior Center has been offering a weekly class that encourages such focus through yoga."

"There must be something to a practice that's been around for 6,000 years. Yoga is a Hindu discipline that trains the consciousness for a state of spiritual insight and tranquility through exercise geared at promoting control of body and mind."

"A lot of people are no longer interested in exercise that beats them to death," says John Schumacher in a recent USA Weekend article regarding high impact aerobic exercise that has been dominating the fitness world for the last decade.

"But many people are finding out there's another way to get fit. Through gentle exercise, deep and rhythmic breathing, and meditation, yoga strengthens muscles, increases flexibility and induces relaxation. In addition, the practice encourages concentration, perseverance and steady progress, qualities many of us seek for other aspects of our lives."

"Yoga is enjoying tremendous popularity these days. What used to be considered as way out there, is today more mainstream than ever. Senior Center instructor Pat Morello has been practicing yoga for 35 years and teaching for the last six but, at one time, her own children did not want her to advertise that fact..."

Main St., US...Lynnfield

"After more than two months of heated debate, the Board of Appeals finally approved an eight unit townhouse complex proposed to be built at 470 Main Street," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"The town did retain significant power over the applicant, North Shore Custom Homes and Developers, by drafting approximately 50 conditions restricting construction of the complex."

"Board of Appeals Chairman John Smith said even though many residents may not think so, the decision to approve the proposal was in the 'best interest' of the town."

"We felt that we had negotiated out the best deal we could for the town under the guidelines of the comprehensive permit law," Smith said.

"He explained that if the Board of Appeals had voted against the proposal, the applicant would have most likely brought the case to the state's Housing Appeals Committee, who probably would have approved a 12-unit proposal for the site."

"Main Street resident Seavey

Everybody loves a parade...of progress

Bowdoin, whose property abuts the proposed site, disagreed with Smith. He believes the Housing Appeals Committee 'may have supported a rejection,' but due to the approval, 'we'll never know.'

"Bowdoin, who formed a group named CUPON, Citizens United to Protect our Neighborhood, said his group, as well as many residents, feel they were shortchanged by the Board of Appeals."

"Many citizens feel that the best interest of the town was not served with this decision," Bowdoin said, adding he feels the Board of Appeals members did not live up to their obligations to the town. "It makes no sense."

"Bowdoin also said he and the proposal's opponents were 'treated badly' by the Board of Appeals, who he believes sided with the applicant under the influence of Boston Attorney

Edith Netter who was hired by the town to aid with the comprehensive permit process.

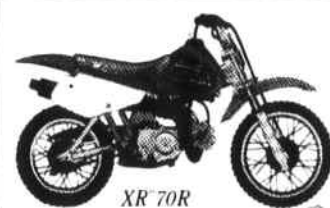

"She laid down the parameters of the hearings," Bowdoin said, adding his group should have been able to further review the specifics of the eight unit proposal before the public hearings were called to a close.... The Board of Appeals met again to finalize the draft of the Board of Appeals written decision. After the written decision was finalized, it went to the state for approval. After the decision receives state approval it comes back to the town...."

Read bedding labels carefully

Buying a mattress? Factors to consider may include soft or firm, innerspring or foam, new or used. Used? yes, in most parts of the country, used mattresses can be resold as long as they meet certain labeling and processing requirements.

Bedding can be expensive. It's important to know what you're buying. The easiest way to tell if you're buying new or used is to look at the label attached to the mattress. In most cases, new materials, consisting of, depending on the state, used mattresses may contain a tag, sometimes red or yellow in color, that warns that the mattress contains used materials.

Federal law requires that any mattress that contains used stuffing bear a tag or label with that information. If you don't see any tag, consider doing business with another retailer. Otherwise, you simply don't know what you're buying.

Not all states have labeling requirements for the sale of used mattresses, and for those that do, the requirements can vary. For example, in many places, old mattresses that have been recovered with new ticking (strong, tightly woven cotton or linen fabric) can be sold as long as they are sanitized or disinfected in some way before sale. In other states, only certain parts of mattresses, such as the springs, can be reused.

These rules apply to traditional retailers as well as to thrift, secondhand and consignment shops.

Mattress Shopping Tips:

Shop around. Mattress prices and quality vary greatly.

Ask if the retailer sells used bedding. If so, and you want a new mattress, make sure your mattress has a "New" mattress tag.

Make sure you look at the tag on the actual mattress you're buying, either before and leave the store or before the delivery person leaves your house. Don't let the heavy plastic wrapping stop you from looking for and at the tag.

Ask the retailer to write "new" on your sales receipt if you've been told you're been told you're buying a new mattress. If it turns out that the mattress is used, you'll have stronger recourse.

Avoid retailers with mattresses that don't carry tags, you simply don't know what you're getting, regardless of what the salesperson claims. It's what's in writing that counts.

Ask about the retailer's return and refund policies, and get copies in writing.

The Federal Trade Commission can answer your questions about federal labeling requirements. Contact the Consumer Response Center by phone: toll-free 1-877-FTC-HELP (9382-4357) TDD 202-326-2502.

Unsung Hero

were curious, they could not ever make the first move. All initial contact had to come from the Lysans.

Leslie recalled, "Just to sit down and write that first letter took a lot of thought."

Jackie recalled that until the communications of post cards and letters, and some drawings by Annette arrived, "We had no idea about what John had done," in relation to the generosity of his gift.

"To us it was like giving blood."

However, some idea of what they were about to do hit the couple when John and Jackie arrived at the hospital in London, some 200 miles to the south of where they live.

John recalled that they were met at the front door and a porter took their bags as they were escorted to their room.

It took a little preparation on the day prior to the actual procedure for John, but at the end of it the doctors in England told him and his wife to take a holiday and enjoy the city if they wished.

At one time, John was not sure he would be the donor. He was first notified in April, 1997 with a letter asking if he still wished to participate.

At that time a family discussion took place and Jackie recalled daughter Zoe, then 13, commenting that she did not want her father to do this if he was going to die.

Jackie said it is a common misconception as to what the procedure is about. She noted that many people think it is the same as giving an organ, such as a piece of liver or a kidney.

The couple were able to explain the procedure to their children and once it was approved by the family the waiting came.

Later in the summer of 1997, the Trust told the family they had not heard any more from the recipient's family.

Leslie explained that at the time, it was tough that John's marrow was not a close enough match. However, the miracles of modern medical science were at work and within weeks, technology had been approved that could be used to more closely match John with Annette.

With this new information, the Dillinghams received word in October that John could be the donor. Thus the trip to the hospital.

In the United States, the donor usually goes in on a Friday so that the person would have the weekend to recuperate and go back to work on a Monday. In England, it is required that the person have a 10 day resting period.

Aside from sharing the same marrow, Annette and John also share scars in roughly the same area in the small of their backs.

John from where it was taken and Annette from where it was placed into her body.

As to discomfort, John said the two hour process was "like being kicked in the back by an elephant."

However, he has a hairy body and, to John, the worst part was to "take the plasters (bandages) off."

Would he do it again?

John said, "I've never known anyone to do it twice. I would like to be the first one."

An answer to which Leslie replied, "Just pray it is not for Annette."

John noted that on leaving the hospital he was happy to sign a form saying that the child he did not have any way of knowing could have some of his blood cells if they were needed for the recuperation process.

In fact Annette started to recuperate right away and the graft was proclaimed as successful within four weeks of it being done, shortly before Christmas of 1997.

As to finally seeing the young, very active and very healthy child they gave a new life to, the man now known as Uncle John said that after a long flight from London to Boston, with a stop in Iceland, his first problem was a minor case of jet lag. His second problem was a major case of Annette lag.

The two families noted that the first thing Annette did when she woke on Saturday to finally meet Uncle John, was to corral him into her room and lock the door until she had a chance to show him everything she owned.

If you were to ask John he would not say he was a hero. He and his wife have lived in Billingham, a small community of about 8,000 or 9,000 people for four to five years. He works in the worlds largest kitchen door manufacturing company.

The Friends of Annette Fund was able to pay their way to this country so he could meet the young girl and to help educate Americans on the importance of registering as bone marrow and organ donors.

Annette was first diagnosed with a disease that could lead to Leukemia thus requiring the need for the bone marrow transplant. John was a 96 percent match with her DNA thus allowing the transplant.

Annette's father, Paul, said, "We are lucky we live in this area. We have the best medical facilities, in the world and the best doctors."

He also commented that with Annette's strong European bloodline and the closeness of John's match, the family may do a search some day to see if there might be a distant rela-

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

To insiders of the Reading youth softball programs, the "secret" is really no big mystery at all.

Why is the Reading High softball team so good year after year?

Two words: the Reading Rage.

John Pandolfo, head coach of the Reading Rage 3 14-year-old and under team, takes great pride in his group's recent accomplishment. Last weekend at Donahey Park in Cambridge at the Metro Boston ASA (Amateur Softball Association) championship, the Rage 3 walked away with two things: a first place trophy, and a trip to Keane, NH July 16-17 for the ASA Regionals.

At the Regionals, Pandolfo's squad will face qualifying teams from Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maine. All will be vying for a top three placing, which would ensure a berth in ASA's highest tournament, the Nationals, held this year in Panama City, Florida.

Perhaps even more surprising is the fact that Reading was able to place not one, but two teams in the top three at Metro Boston. The 14 and under Rage 2, coached by Bill Clements, finished third last weekend and will be making the trip with Pandolfo's team to Keane in July.

The Rage 2 lost by a mere run in the semifinals. Had they won, Metro Boston would have witnessed an all-Reading final.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Of all the heavyweight championship fights of this tionship in the past.

Although insurance companies such as Blue Cross and Blue Shield pick up the tab for the procedure, the cost of the testing (about $60) is paid for by the person being tested. The Friends of Annette Fund was established to allow people to be tested at no cost to themselves. This resulted in over 2,000 people being tested.

As a result of that drive, matches were found for at least eight other people.

The Tall Ships

By ANTHONY MANCONI

As I stand at dawn on Bunker Hill

At the rising of the tide.
A lonely gull is flying high,
Circling in the sky.

The sun just risen from the bay,

Gives light to a new day.

From distant seas tall ships appear

Just as in yesteryear.

No need to sound bells of alarm

Or fire across their bow.

They come as friends and comrades

In peace forever now.

We welcome them with open arms,

As they sail straight and true.

We hope their stay is filled with love

Camp Fire has 90th birthday

Camp Fire Boys and Girls, a national youth development organization, is marking its 90th Anniversary of serving youth and families. Local, the Camp Fire council for Eastern Massachusetts is celebrating by holding a "Reunion of the WoHeLo Generations" in Lexington this coming November 12.

"For nine decades, thousands of youth and adults in our region have had incredible experiences and fond memories of their times as Camp Fire members, and we thought it would be fun to get everyone together at one time nd place to reminisce and celebrate," said Cynthia Beaudoin Executive Director of the council.

Founded at a camp on Sebago Lake in Maine in 1910, Camp Fire Boys and Girls now provides programming for approximately 629,000 participants annually through 125 councils in 41 states and the District of Columbia. Today's Camp Fire programs include mentoring opportunities through clubs in after school settings, environmental education through resident camping and service learning. Camp Fire also partners with schools, other not for profit youth agencies and housing developmentns to bring quality out-of-school time experimental learning activities to youth.

The Camp Fire council of Eastern Massachusetts hope to locate as many alumni as possible to invite to the reunion and ask members to contact them at Councilheadquarts at 108 Union Wharf, Boston, 02109, or by calling 617-523-6006 or checking out the reunion on their web site: www.campfire-emass.org.

Baseball is now open to non-Reading residents as well as Reading residents.

This is a five-week program for boys and girls who will enter grades K-4 next fall. This program is for players who would like team play as well as instruction. Players will be assigned to teams within their own age groups, and play two games and have one practice each week on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from July 10-August 11.

The purpose of Reading Recreation Baseball is to provide a format for instruction and games in the atmosphere of fun and encouragement. This program has been very popular, as players enjoy the opportunity to hit, field, throw and run at every session.

Players are placed on team by age, as follows:

Pre-Rookie Division: For boys and girls entering Kindergarten. Basic fundamentals will be stressed and hitting in games will be soft toss from the coaches.

Rookie Division: For boys and girls entering grades 1 or 2. Basic fundamentals will be stressed and hitting in games will be soft toss from the coaches.

Rocket Division: For boys and girls entering grades 3 or 4. Mechanics of fielding, throwing, and baserunning will be emphasized. Hitting in games will be live pitching (coaches pitch).

6TH ANNUAL ITALIAN FESTIVAL

Once again Italia Unita celebrates Italian pride and heritage in East Boston. On July 21, 22 and 23, Central Square, East Boston will transform into a piazza of Italian food, games and entertainment. This three-day celebration will rekindle pride in Italians, while introducing non-Italians to Italian food, folklore and traditions.

As always, the festival organizers have arranged a weekend full of entertainment from both international and local stars, WGBH Public Television personality and Boston Radio Talent Rob Della Chiesa will act as Master of Ceremonies and kick off the entertainment with the Opening Ceremony on Friday, July 21. Boogie Nights, New York's most popular Disco Cover Band will entertain with songs everyone loves or dance to from the 70s and 80s.

On Saturday, after selling millions of records and performing all around the world, the Village People will headline the Italia Unita 2000 Italian Festival, singing their famous hits, "YMCA, Macho Man, In The Navy" and many other hit songs we all know and love. Also on Saturday, July 22nd, Canadian singing group Paul London will heat up the stage with contemporary Italian hit songs like Marina and Ti Amo. And don't forget Boston's own local sensation 'Keepin' It Real' will be performing for the crowd.

On Sunday, direct from Italy, International Superstar, Gigione will perform a mix of contemporary and Italian Classics. There's something for everyone at the festival, throughout the weekend, children will enjoy the ride and games while adults play Bocce, observe live Tomato Jarring Demonstrations.

Opening Ceremony starts on Friday, July 21st at 6 pm with local dignitaries and guests. Monte Carlo Night is open Friday and Saturday, from 8 pm to 1 am Sunday 6 pm to 11pm.

GREAT NEW ENGLAND AIR SHOW

The Great New England Air Show, scheduled for August 12 and 13, again has attracted some of the top Warbirds and aerobatic performers in the country as well as an impressive array of military aircraft for static and flying display.

Lt. Col. Dan Nichols, who is operations chief of the event is anticipating that this year's show will again be a huge favorite for aviation buffs from throughout New England.

"The Thunderbirds and Golden Knights are always big hits and we feel confident, because of the big crowds the we draw, we will also bring some top aerobatic acts for this show. We are also anticipating that we will have more military aircraft on display and in the air," he said.

Vintage aircraft expected to make an appearance this year include, P-40, F-4U, P-51, B-17, A-4D, C-123, B-25, AN-2, T-34 and an F-104.

Mike Goulian, Sean Tucker, Frank Ryder and members of the Old Rhinebeck. Aerodrome are also slated to be here.

Dr. Glines retires after 41 years

Pediatrician George Glines, M.D., who cared for thousands of children during his 41 years of practice was recently lauded by his colleagues and patients at a retirement gathering at his Wakefield office. Parens and patients of all ages some who were third generation and had received pediatric care from Dr. Glines were on hand to thank him for many years of check-ups and middle-of-the-night phone calls.

Dr. Glines began practicing in Melrose in 1959, at offices on Porter Street in Melrose, next to Melrose-Wakefield Hospital. He practiced in Melrose for 39 years before relocating to Wakefield in 1999.

For more than 40 years he

has tended to his patients, beginning early each day. "In the early years," recalled Dr.

Glines, "I came into the office around 7:30 in the morning. In the winter, I had to shovel the walkway for the patients so they could get in. I'd see patients right through lunch, and then lock up at night around six-thirty, seven o'clock."

During his tenure, Dr. Glines experienced many changes in the practice of medicine. "When I first started, babies received only one shot for immunizations that was it. Now they receive about 20 in total before they become teenagers," he said.

Innovations and advances in treatment have made great strides in pediatrics, according to Glines. "Antibiotics have had a major impact with infections, and immunizations have nearly wiped out certain diseases. Resistance to antibiotics has become a challenge, however."

He has also observed a change in the medical conditions being treated in his office over the years. "Thankfully, we don't see as many serious illnesses as in the early years of my practice."

Cases of cribdeath, meningitis, croup, and pneumonia all used to be much more common. "In his practice, Dr. Glines has followed many children from infancy through adolescence."

He leaves 2,500 active patients in the care of his associate for the past three years, Dr. Elena Gorlovsky. "She has been wonderful to work with these past few years. The patients have gotten to know her quite well and I am confident that they will continue to be cared for exceedingly well," said Dr. Glines.

Spotlight on Seniors

The heart/brain partnership

By GREG PUGH, MD

The virtues of a healthy lifestyle continue to be discovered. Many diseases once thought to be inevitable consequences of aging, are actually preventable by staying active and fit. Perhaps more than any other conditions, heart disease and stroke are known to be highly influenced by the choices we make in our lives regarding diet, exercise, weight control, and smoking. The prevention of heart disease and heart attack has been well publicized over the years, and here are many efforts aimed at educating people about the benefits of a "Heart Healthy" lifestyle.

It is well known that the same risk factors that lead to heart attack can also cause stroke or "brain attack". The idea of problems moving or speaking clearly after a stroke is not a pleasant one for any person to imagine. Many strokes cause obvious difficulties for those who have had them.

What is often not discussed is the problem of "silent strokes". The same risk factors that can cause heart attack and stroke can also cause "silent" brain damage. "Silent" Brain damage results from a series of very small strokes that do not cause any obvious symptoms at first.

With time, these "silent" strokes effect how well our brain functions. Diabetes, high blood pressure (Hypertension), high cholesterol, and smoking are known risk factors for "silent" brain damage.

Much of this was learned right here in our own backyard through the now famous "Framingham Heart Study" which spans over 50 years in duration. This is not a rare problem. Large studies of healthy older people show that about 10-15% appear to have suffered "silent" strokes without any symptoms. They have no problems with speech, language, or paralysis. Special x-ray techniques such as CAT scan or magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) can help detect them.

ized, placebo-controlled trial was conducted by Charlotte Atkinson, PhD, of the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle, WA on behalf of the Medical Research Council, Dunn Human Nutrition Unit, Cambridge, U.K. The trial followed 107 pre-, peri- and post-menopausal women taking one tablet (40mg) per day of Promensil for one year. Participants were monitored for the effects of Promensil on changes in bone mineral content

(BMC) and bone mineral density (BMD), as well as rates of bone formation and bone loss.

Reductions in BMC and BMD did occur over the course of the year in both the Promensil and placebo groups. However, in pre- and peri-menopausal women, the decrease in spine BMD and BMC was significantly less in the Promensil group than in the placebo group. In fact, about 49 percent less BMD and 35 percent less BMC was lost by those women taking Promensil.

The study concluded that supplementation with one tablet of promensil daily for approximately one year significantly slowed the extent of loss of spine BMC and BMD in pre- and perimenopausal women.

These "silent" strokes also show up as tiny white spots that indicate old damage to the brain.

Unfortunately, these little strokes may not be so "silent" after all. Though they do not cause the symptoms that most of us associate with stroke, evidence is growing that they may be a major cause of problems in later life.

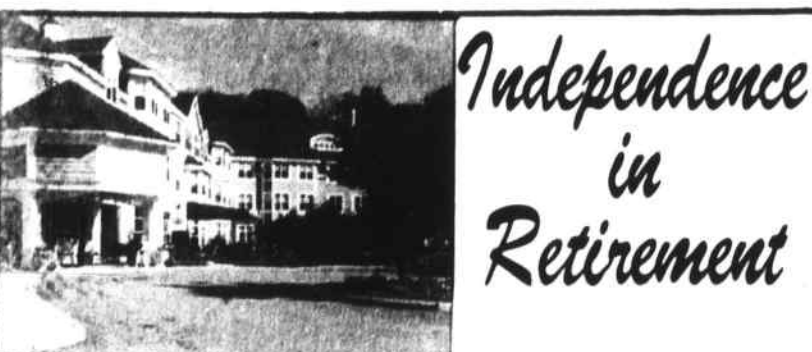

These include difficulties with memory, particularly in focusing attention on a complicated task, avoiding distractions, and even depression. Problems such as urinary incontinence or "bladder control", falls and difficulties with balance may be related to "silent" strokes. Eventually these "silent" strokes may predict the need for nursing home placement and influence our ability to live independently.

There is much still to learn. People who have high blood pressure and diabetes may be at particularly high risk. Despite all the bad news, there is reason to be optimistic.

If many of the common problems in later life are caused by "silent" strokes, then it gives us the opportunity to attempt to prevent them by paying close attention to the risk factors. There are excellent treatments for diabetes, high blood pressure and high cholesterol. New medicines can even help people to quit smoking. Studies are beginning to show that some of the problems with memory and other thought processes may actually be reversible.

More work needs to be done to answer questions like, "How can doctors detect 'silent' strokes during a routine exam?" or "Which risk factors cause the most problems?"

A new study to assist us in understanding the links between a healthy heart and mind is being developed by the Research and Training Institute of the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for Aged.

Treating women for early bone loss

A new study presented today at the 82nd annual meeting of the Endocrine Society suggested that pre- and peri-menopausal women can benefit significantly from early treatment of osteoporosis, and that a widely available over-the-counter dietary supplement called Promensil can help.

"The result suggest that women begin experiencing bone loss earlier than previously believed, as early as the peri- and even pre-menopausal stages. Fortunately, the study concludes that Promensil offers a safe and effective option for decreasing the risk of osteoporosis during these stages in a woman's life," says Lila Nachtigall, MD, a leading authority on women's health and professor of Obstetrics & Gynecology at New York University School of Medicine.

Promensil, manufactured by Novogen, Ltd. (Nasdaq: NVGN; ASX: NRT), is a natural dietary supplement made from plant estrogens (or isoflavones) extracted from red clover, the richest and most complete source of dietary plant estrogens. Each Promensil tablet is standardized to deliver a proprietary ratio of the four important plant estrogens most commonly found in nature, including biochanin, formononetin, genistein and daidzein.

Wishes come true in Wakefield

"Collaborations between local organizations and task forces have and will continue to benefit Wakefield school children," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"A strategic Planning Task Force is in the process of developing a long-range plan for the Wakefield Public Schools," wrote Focus Group moderator Jennifer Payne in a letter to School Officials in hopes of collecting commentary on the system's 'strengths and weaknesses.'

"The Wakefield Education Association (WEA) is reportedly only one of the organizations which partake in such collaborative efforts as they strive to make charitable grants, betterments, and donations to the local schools."

"An upcoming discussion between WEA and the task force is expected to yield beneficial results with a constructive brainstorming session among members."

"We hope to eventually get the money for grants from the interest gathered on the accounts," commented Foundation President Lauren Patriquin-Muise on the efforts which have already gained success. 'We gave away $8,000 in grants this year, in comparison to $2,000 last year.'

"The organization, formed in 1989 by a 'group of concerned citizens,' has reportedly supported and arranged a number of programs, including literacy days, author studies and Holocaust remembrance programs."

"We must have done something right because this is the best attendance since we've formed," added Director Ralph Benson of the recent outpouring of support which has provided a great deal of encouragement...."

A renaissance in Reading

"For several years, arts programs at Austin Prep have not been able to flourish due to lack of space and the limitations of the current curriculum," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"But, lately, Austin and its arts program have been experiencing their own little renaissance."

"Through various curriculum studies, fundraising initiatives, donations and foundation grants, Austin has been able to place more emphasis on its arts programs. From a drawing/painting studio on the first floor to a state-of-the-art dance studio on the third to a new million dollar multi-purpose facility, arts programs are now getting the opportunity to blossom on a grand scale."

"Nearly 60 students, from 6th graders to sophomores, participate in the Dance Club under the instruction of faculty member Marla Pasucci. Prior to the conversion of what used to be the weight room into a professional quality dance studio, members would practice in classrooms, moving desks to the side of the room, or in the hallway."

"I couldn't be more pleased about the new studio," said an obviously delighted Pasucci, whose classroom is across the hall from the new venue. 'It's actually a higher quality than the one I go to now to study.'

"The club, along with some faculty members, performed the Nutcracker to a sold out crowd in December after months of rehearsals in the new studio."

"We're doing a tribute to television," said Pasucci. "The dances represent different channels and, unlike the Nutcracker, incorporate different styles of dance-tap, jazz, lyrical, ballet, and some 90's stuff - very interesting and entertaining...."

Call of the Wild(wood) in Wilmington

"If ever director Steven Spielberg finally gets around to filming that rumored fourth 'Indiana Jones' movie, he might want to hold his casting call with the fifth graders at the Wildwood School," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Harrison Ford isn't getting any younger, you know."

"For four days, 75 fifth graders at the Wildwood School went to Camp 40 Acres in North Wilmington, where they participated in a program of problem-solving activities that took them from one cliffhanger to the next."

"The program, which Wilmington schools have been taking part in for the past three years, is called 'Outdoor Life.' The activities are fun by Richard Barry, who operates Camp 40 Acres for the non-profit corporation, Wilmington Camps."

"The intent of the program is to instill confidence in these young adventurers, so that they can learn to make their own decisions and try to solve their own problems."

"The literature that details the 'Outdoor Life' program says it best."

"It reads, 'If we as adults project our own solutions, we stymie the children's efforts and they become dependent on us for answers. Oftentimes, we help children because we don't want them to fail. There is often more learning through failure than success....'"

Lowell Summer Music Festival

Great entertainment is yours this summer in Lowell, when regionally and nationally known artists take the stage at Boarding House Park. Bring your lawn chair or blanket, pack a picnic supper, and enjoy contemporary folk, blues, Irish, pops concert favorites, and lots more.

The season previews with a FREE CONCERT on Thursday, July 6 at 7:30 pm with Air Force Band of Liberty. An unforgettable musical extravaganza for the whole family, the program features the Air Force's premier concert band in selections that highlight America's musical diversity in a celebration to kick-off the 2000 Lowell Summer Music Festival.

The FRIDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS SERIES, at 8 pm opens July 7 with Eddie From Ohio. EFO is actually a quartet from Virginia: lead singers Julie Murphy Wells, Robbie Schaefer (guitar), Michael Clem (guitar-bass-harp) and Eddie Harnett (percussion). Among the hottest new folk bands, their unique blend of vocals and acoustic instrumentation has drawn comparisons to the Indigo Girls and Crosby Stills & Nash, but with quirky and hilariously funny songs. Find more info at www.efohio.com.

On July 8 Deborah Henson-Conant, Jazz harpist with 12 albums to her credit, takes the stage. An inventive instrumentalist, singer and composer who juices up her jazz with blues, flamenco, celtic, classical and other influences, winning rave reviews around the world for her musicianship and showmanship. Find more info at www.hipharp.com.

Affordable for the whole family, admission to the Lowell Summer Music Festival is $5 at the gate with children 12 and under free. The summer-long festival is presented by the University of Massachusetts Lowell, the Lowell National Historical Park, and the Lowell Festival Foundation. In the event of rain, performances move to the newly renovated Lowell High School auditorium, across the street from Boarding House Park. For further information, call 978-970-5000 or visit www.lowellsummermusic.org.

Mickey Reardon said to Blackie Vega I'll give you the job as bartender and I'll pay you what you're worth. "No Sir," Blackie replied "I can't work that cheap!"

"What ice cream flavors do you have?" Dennis Tully asked the pretty young lady at Kelly's Kremer on Revere Beach. She answered in a hoarse voice, "Vanilla," Trying to be sympathetic Dennis asked, "do you have 'Laryngitis'?" "Please be kind!" she exclaimed with an effort, "I just told you, Vanilla, Strawberry and Chocolate!"

Officer John Daigle stopped a station wagon for not obeying a stop sign. He told the woman driver, "Lady, don't you know when to STOP?" "These are NOT all my kids," she said, "they are Cub Scouts and I'm taking them to the ball game."

When Balboa came upon a large body of water, he immediately radioed King Ferdinand of Spain and told him of his discovery. The excited King radioed back shouting, "where is it, be 'more specific!' That' it Sir, it's the Specific Ocean!"

it's DIFFERENT By How'

There are seven differences in the second picture. Can you spot them?

Aunt Nora who was looking over my shoulder as I was typing just ran to the kitchen for a couple of aspirins.

Children have become so expensive only the POOR can afford them.

Blackie Vega is a barber college dropout. He was shaving George Guyette and nicked him more than a few times. He asked George, "shall I wrap your head in a towel?" "Yes" George said, "And I'll carry it home under my arm." Paul Bruno, the owner of the Barbershop told Blackie, "give him a glass of water before he gets off the chair and 'CHECK' for LEAKES."

Joe D'Ambrosio said to the pretty manicurist, "how about stepping out with me tonight, a fine dinner, a show etc." "I'm married," she replied. "So what? Just call your husband up and tell him you have to work late." "Tell him yourself," she told Joe, "he's shaving YOU."

I took Kahty out to dinner on her birthday. she told the waiter, "I'll have the, Spumoni Vincere please," "Scusa, but where do you see that on the menu?" "Right here." The waiter smiled and said, "Signora that's the name of the owner of this restaurant."

My house must have been built by bootleggers. The FOUNDATION is, STONED the WALLS are PLASTERED and the WINDOWS all have a PANEFUL GLAZED look. BUT, my family and I are happy here, especially at night when the MOONSHINE is over our heads.

Yanno and Nicky Petruzzelli of New Deal told me, "America sent a man to the moon and their cousin Mario is going to the sun. 'Hey, wait a minute,' I exclaimed, 'The sun is so hot the space ship and Maro will BURN UP!'" Nicky and Yanno smiled and said, "Stupido, he's going at NIGHT!"

Tom Ciovacco told me, "Chipper, a refrigerator in Italy is called an, Ice-a-Box-a"

At 2 in the mornign, Kathy shouted, "Get up! Get Up! I hear a mouse squeaking!" I open one eye and groaned, "well, what do you want me to do, get up and oil it."

Skip Cavallaro told me, "an Italian Opera isn't over, until the 'fat ady' sings."

REALTOR NAMES IN THE NEWS

Irene Chase of Carlson GMAC Real Estate's Reading Office was recognized in June for her recent accomplishments in real estate sales. Irene, a long-standing top producer, was a principal in her own real estate firm in Stoneham for many years before joining Carlson GMAC in 1990. Irene's thoroughness and dedication to service is well known to her customers and clients.

Irene is a member of the National Association of Realtors, the Massachusetts Association of Realtors, the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors and the state-wide multiple listing service, MLS-PIN.

Carlson GMAC Real Estate is a full-service company with emphasis on residential real estate sales, mortgage lending, relocation and elegant home marketing.

Irene can be contacted at (781) 942-1500 or directly at (781) 942-6277.

Marianne Crowley from the Woburn office of Carlson/GMAC Real Estate has received her Realtor Pin from the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors President, Thomas J. Lee, CRS, GRI, LTG at the Association's recent business meeting.

Carlson Real Estate was founded in 1968 in Marblehead, by Richard W. Carlson. By the mid 1980's, Carlson has expanded to 27 offices and 9 operating divisions. In 1995, New Hampshire's largest real estate company. The Norwood Realty with 10 offices, became part of Carlson Real Estate/Better Homes and Gardens. In the Fall of 1998, Carlson acquired two firms and 14 more offices in Western Massachusetts Landry, Lyons, and Whyte/Better Homes and Gardens, and Stearns and Yerrall Real Estate to become Landry, Lyons, Stearns & Yerrall - giving Carlson market dominance in western Massachusetts.

In December 1998, Carlson Real Estate was acquired by GMAC Home Services at the National Convention. In March of this year, Richard Carlson received a Company Growth Award and was presented with the first GMAC Home Services Keystone Award, as the first company to join GMAC Home

Services Real Estate Division. In June of this year, Carlson/GMAC Home Services, acquired the two largest real estate firms on Cape Cod, Kinlin Grover Properties and Bay Village Realty/Better Homes and Gardens, adding 14 strategic Cap locations. GMAC's regional real estate subsidiary, Eastern Massachusetts Real Estate Inc., will now operate 66 offices serving Eastern and Western Massachusetts, Cape Cod, New Hampshire, Maine and Connecticut with more than 200 full-time employees and 1,300 real estate professionals. Richard Carlson is the President and Chief Executive Officer of the newly formed company. Carlson has grown from a single office into one of New England's premier real estate companies.

Builders licensing summer course

The Builders Association of Greater Boston (BAG) is announcing the next Builders Licensing Courses which will begin on Monday, July 10-Quincy (Crown Colony Office Park). Classes start each evening at 7 pm to 10 pm and continue for 7 weeks with a mock exam given during the last class. Certificates issued upon completion of course.

The next state exam is September 9, 2000 and the deadline to register for the exam is August 11, 2000. We advise you to contact the Board of Building Regulations & Standards at 617-727-7532 for license eligibility requirements.

BAGB has long been recommended by many Building Inspectors and other professionals as a source for an excellent review of the Massachusetts State Building Code Book and preparation for the MA Construction Supervisors Licensing Exam. This course is a review of the sixth edition code.

The course is now approved for five continuing education credits for MA building officials. This course has a documented 83% pass rate on the first try. We have expert instructors with extensive professional experience in the building trades and up-to-date knowledge of the Sixth Edition Massachusetts Building Code.

Interested builders and remodelers can call 617-773-6004 or 617-773-1300 for details on registration and dates of weekly classes. The course fee is $340 for non-members, $240 for members and $45 for a copy of the sixth edition code book which is needed for the course and the state exam.

Unique mortgages offer homebuyers new options

Today's interest rates are still affordable considering that over the last decade interest rates for a 30-year fixed rate mortgage have averaged 9.2 percent, according to the Mortgage Bankers Association. However, rising rates have caused many homebuyers to take a closer look at their financing options.

"Traditional products, such as fixed and adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM) products are still very popular, but we're also seeing a shift to some of the non-traditional products," said Cathy Pallin, Area Manager for the Mass area of Wells Fargo Home Mortgage, Inc., a leading originator and servicer of home mortgages. "Today, homebuyers are considering a mortgage options which combines the advantages of an ARM - low start rates, easier qualification with the stability of a fixed-rate mortgage. They really offer homebuyers the best of both worlds."

For example, the FLEX/FIXED loan program at Wells Fargo Home Mortgage has become more popular as interest rates have increased. First, working as a temporary buydown, the FLEX/FIXED loan offers homebuyers low interest rates often below market for one, two or even three years. Interest rates are then locked for the remaining term of the loan. Second, and most importantly, substantial value is derived from the fact that homebuyers are qualified on the introductory interest rate. This benefit translates into more purchasing power homebuyers can afford more home with a larger loan amount.

"While it may cost the homebuyer more money up-front, they are not spending any more than what they will get back during the buydown period," Pallin said. "The savings more than compensates the buydown amount, and most important the homebuyer is more likely to be able to afford the house they really want."

The following example helps illustrate the cost savings associated with FLEX/FIXED loan program: borrower A and B both purchase a home valued at $160,000. Borrower A selects a typical Flex-Fixed option, a 1.5-5.0 buydown, using a 3 percent or $4,800 downpayment to finance the $155,200 mortgage. The Flex/Fixed option lowers Borrower A's first year interest rate by 1 1/2 percent and the second year rate by 1/2 from the original interest rate of 8.375 percent, but requires $1,094.16 buydown fee.

However, borrower A qualifies for the loan at 6.875 percent, rather than the current interest rate of 8.125 percent. Borrower B opts for 30-yr fixed-rate mortgage at 8.125 percent, also using a 3 percent down-payment. Based on this example, Borrower A would realize a savings after the first two years of $1,943.45, which more than covers the initial buydown cost.

During the third year, however, Borrower B would realize a savings of $23.11 per month, which is an easy way to pay for the initial savings.

GENERAL HELP

ARMED DRIVERS-GUARDS

The Spirit that helped win the West is alive and well and still looking for straight shooters to ride with us!

$1,000 SIGN ON BONUS!

If you're a retired police officer, career military or have an interest in law enforcement, you could become part of the honored tradition at Loomis Fargo.

Positions involve driving extremely well-maintained vehicles, 40-50 hours per week; balance and replenish ATM machines; heavy lifting/carrying items by hand for several yards; picking-up/delivering customer change orders/deposits; counting items, recording amounts and serial numbers signing/dating receipts and manifests; communicate verbally with customers and co-workers via telephone and two-way radio.

Must have valid driver's license, Massachusetts handgun permit eligibility and pass background check which includes: MVR, credit history, criminal record, past employment, education and military service. Will need to be at least 21 years old, read/speak English well-enough to converse with people, respond to official inquiries and understand traffic signs/signals.

We provide a starting salary of $10.61 per hour, paid training, full benefits, including 401(k), paid vacations/holidays and free uniforms.

TO RIDE WITH US, CALL KERRI ANN: TOLL-FREE 800-550-1500.
